The Third Ward, dubbed "The Bloody Third" in 1846, is a charming arts district today but conceals a violent gangster past. Once home to Milwaukee's mafia operations and, before that, Irish gangsters, known as the Third Ward Cowboys, its streets have been touched by tragedy and the paranormal.

Expect to learn more about paranormal happenings and ghost sightings at the Skylight Opera Theatre, the Italian Community Center, and MIAD, as well as many other lesser-known locations. Ghosts stories with Third Ward connections including supernatural encounters at the Hilton Garden Inn and the Pfister Hotel. See the Itinerary section below for a sample of the stops.

The Hill Has Eyes: 45 Acres & 60 Minutes of Sheer Terror
Dare to escape Wisconsin's top outdoor haunted trails.

Test your courage through four gruesome outdoor attractions, all for the price of one:

- First, you'll enter Failed Escape. Walking amongst a society of mutant hillbillies formed from the toxic waste. As they linger in the toxic landfill, their minds begin to warp until they are affected by the hunger.
- Followed-up by Hunger Hollow. Where you are either feeder or food – to enter is to become like them.
- Then, you'll experience CARNIVORE – the macabre carnival of The Demon's realm!
- And finally, you'll experience Dead End. Where the end is near, but will you find your way out?

Enjoy our haunted attractions along with nightly music, bonfires and food and beverages.

Parking is always free. Buy tickets on-line before they sell out and join the mutant hillbilly cannibals at Milwaukee's scariest outdoor haunted experience.

Spooky Stalks Haunted Cornfield started as a yard haunt in 1998. After a number of years of decorating the front yard and collecting masks and other props, we started Spooky Stalks Haunted Cornfield in October 2005. We have old and new friends that volunteer their time to bring the haunt to life every year. Our common bond is the love of Halloween and the need to scare.
